

Ajilon Learning is now Interskill Learning

London, UK (Quarter 4, 2007) – Ajilon Learning, one of the world's premier providers of e-Learning solutions, today announced the decision to return to the well-known Interskill name.

"The name change back to Interskill Learning from Ajilon Learning draws upon significant name recognition for the e-Learning industry" said Ian Rowlands, Interskill Learning's Chief Executive. "For twelve years before our recent Ajilon Group rebrand, the Interskill name was synonymous with high quality learning solutions, centring around customisable IT and Business e-Learning, including the world renowned Datatrain mainframe education tool."

"Completing this re branding marks the beginning of an exciting new chapter in Interskill's history", Rowlands said. "As a global provider we are able to tap the entrepreneurial spirit of clients, partners and staff in diverse cultures, delivering more innovative education solutions and offering a breadth, depth and currency of training not previously thought possible."
