

Measurability is vital to an effective education solution

NEW Mainframe Skills Assessment Now Available

London, UK (November 1, 2008) - An exciting new mainframe education resource for Interskill's customers became available today. The Mainframe Skills Assessment provides measurability vital to an effective mainframe education solution.

"Extensive banks of mainframe focused, scenario based questions enable you to accurately evaluate the strengths and weaknesses of your mainframe workforce" said Interskill Learning's American Vice President, Darren Surch, "As any mainframe IT Manager will surely agree, this sort of data is priceless!".

Application of New Tests

Students can use the testing to benchmark their current skill level and select appropriate training, then re-test to quantify their improvement in knowledge and skills.

Managers can analyse the data gathered to identify skill gaps, determine future training requirements, measure the effectiveness of the training used and calculate ROI. It can even be used to evaluate new hires or job applicants!
